Our Mission Statement

The SSJ Neighborhood Network sponsored by the Sisters of St. Joseph of Northwestern Pennsylvania provides leadership, advocates for local residents and partners with the broader community to develop opportunities for both personal growth and neighborhood revitalization.

On the Cover

Some of our youth, volunteers, and staff came together to symbolize how everyone has a hand in sparking positive change. There are many sources of kindling in both of SSJNN’s neighborhoods, and we hope you enjoy this report that sheds light on some of them.

Revitalizing a Neighborhood
Empowering its People
“I am part of a light, and it is the music. The Light fills my six senses: I see it, hear, feel, smell, touch and think. Thinking of it means my sixth sense. Particles of Light are written note. A bolt of lightning can be an entire sonata. A thousand balls of lightning is a concert. For this concert I have created a Ball Lightning, which can be heard on the icy peaks of the Himalayas.” — Nikola Tesla

Nikola Tesla was referencing his wonderful research which led to numerous inventions including the early theory of wireless communication. Imagine, one spark of lightening now keeps us connected through the internet, cell phones, tablets, etc. This theory can also be used to describe the spark of change we can see through our involvement with you. Because you have shared your light with the SSJNN, our neighbors and our communities are seeing the spark of positive change. Your torch has joined with many to create such positive energy for people who often times feel swallowed by the darkness of their lives.

We cannot thank you enough for your faith in the Sisters of Saint Joseph and their ministry to bring peace and hope to our community. We would not be able to accomplish so many things without your assistance. As you read through our annual report, I hope you see your face in the smiling faces and upbeat stories contained inside these pages. It is easy to focus on the negative in our world as it is played before us like a movie scene in all media outlets. Today, we want you to see the positive happening around you and because of you. We are so blessed to get to work among some of the most wonderful people living in the City of Erie. Thank you so much for being part of the kindling and helping dreams comes true.

Sincerely,

Those you have helped and the staff of the SSJNN
The Mouths of Babes

Sometimes kindling for a good spark can come in the form of new ideas.

So we asked some of our wise regulars for their top idea of what they’d change in their neighborhood to make it better, and here is what they had to say without hesitation:

“I’d have a store for shoes.”
-Diora, 9, west

“More clean spaces and gardens with flowers.”
-Ayasha, 8, west

“I’d fix up the houses.”
-Zarya, 12, west

“I would have even more programs like this to learn things.”
-Ridwan, 16, east

“Robberies; because even if people don’t have money they don’t have to steal.”
-Emily, 15, west

“More stores here.”
-Elvin, 8, west

“Less violence; because I lost someone in my family from it.”
-Jonathan, 15, east

“The shootings.”
-Alexus, 13, west

“I’d have a store where you can pay for things just with pennies.”
-Jaheim, 12, east

“I’d change it so we wouldn’t have snow here.”
-Debora, 7, west

“I would stop the gun violence.”
-Preston, 13, west

“Get rid of the crazy violence.”
-Trent, 15, east

“No more drugs because people are dying from drugs.”
-Antonio, 12, east

“More gardens to help the vegetables grow up to be healthy.”
-Sarah, 8, west

“I would have more programs to stop the violence.”
-Arlan, 16, east

“I’d stop all the bullying and everyone fighting with each other.”
-Samir, 13, west

“I’d have a store where you can pay for things just with pennies.”
-Jaheim, 12, east

“Better houses, because people ruin their houses.”
-Alex, 5, west

“Robberies; because even if people don’t have money they don’t have to steal.”
-Emily, 15, west

“More gardens to help the vegetables grow up to be healthy.”
-Sarah, 8, west

“I would have more programs to stop the violence.”
-Arlan, 16, east

“I’d stop all the bullying and everyone fighting with each other.”
-Samir, 13, west

Lawrence and Mary Serafin carefully chose their location for a grocery store, as it bordered a Polish and German part of town and they spoke both of those languages. As for what lies ahead, Daniel Serafin carefully said in his friendly way, “we’re hoping for maybe another ninety years.”

“People say to me, you can’t move, you can’t take away that charm,” said Serafin, whose ties run deep in the area. “Dad was even born in the back room,” he added.

His shop adds vibrancy to the neighborhood, but he said he also sees it with Holy Trinity Parish and their “home coming” of an annual festival, and with the presence of the Sisters of St. Joseph. “You know you just get so busy running your own business that you can only do so much, but Margarita knows who to reach out to and it’s so nice having a helping hand in bringing everyone together.”

“The neighborhood is good - it still has a lot of good people,” he said. It is with such zeal that SSJNN’s east side location is progressing, and it is with certainty that Serafin is one of those good people.
Mark Baumgartner, a neighbor on the west side, has a story that not so long ago was more bitter and less sweet. In the 2008 recession, he said he received a big dose of bad luck all at once - losing his job and finding himself homeless and hopeless and struggling with bouts of depression and alcoholism.

His service with SSJNN started out as the mandatory kind, “but then I just wanted to stay on”. Baumgartner said he likes seeing the changes in the community and likes to contribute. He describes those contributions as small, though his list of service might suggest otherwise: Snow shoveling, taking out the garbage every week, setting up and tearing down for the farmers’ market every week, decorating the garden’s tree for Christmas, helping to move furniture and more.

In 2010 just before Christmas, Sister Phyllis Hilbert got him into the Maria House Project. Since then, “it’s been a continual thing,” he said, “God’s helping me and people are helping me - like Sister Phyllis, Wally, and Father Pete.” He said he reads the Bible and tries to catch a Christian radio show daily, “because you can’t save yourself just by doing good works”. And while that may be so, his good works are big pieces of kindling in revitalizing the neighborhood.

Darnell Stallworth is an active member of the advisory board for the east side and cares deeply about what he calls a “new breath of life” that has arrived there. “For a long time no attention was given to this neighborhood, and now with the Sisters here it gives it hope,” he said.

From helping to paint porches, to hearing out problems, Stallworth, originally from Philadelphia, said he tries to be understanding of others and be involved in the community he now calls home. “I believe in the community needing to pull together, so I think whatever little thing I can do, I should do it.” Stallworth’s down to earth way is just the kind of presence needed on the east side, and he easily helps to foster relationships. Residing just a few blocks from St. John’s, he sees the problems from a close-up lens and chimes in with possibilities. While overcoming trials earlier in his life, Stallworth said he found himself in a nursing home at age 40 and did some reexamining and soul searching. “I really realized that attitude is such a key to life.” Whether with direct service or being part of the plans for change, his can-do attitude is now one of the keys for sparking positive change on the east side.

“Volunteer Spotlight

It was difficult for the SSJNN to shine light on but two of the more than 300 fantastic volunteers that they know and love, but below are the unique stories from two gentlemen who live right in the neighborhoods they serve so well. In addition to SSJNN, they both volunteer with the mobile homeless shelters during the winter months, and other programs in the city. Here’s to both of them and their contagious spirit to serve.

“The sidewalks made a huge difference. I’m just doing one small part; but I like it.”

“I believe in the community needing to pull together.”
